GROPING IN THE SMOKE

Butte Fairly Wrapped Up in a Cloud of Fog and Fumes.

HURRY UP, MR. HUTCHINSON

A Montana Passenger Train Collides With a Switching Engine —Both Locomotives Knocked Out But No One Hurt.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—All day long the city has been wrapped in a dense cloud of mingled fog and smoke, making navigation of every sort a matter of danger and difficulty. Carriages have been forced to drive slowly and with the greatest care in order to avoid knocking down pedestrians. The cables have been slackened in speed and the gongs on the grip were kept ringing all the way up Main street as far as the post office. The motors crept along through the city ringing their bells constantly while at night full the conductors went ahead of their trains through the principal streets with lanterns in their hands. As far as known through their extraordinary precautions the street railroads have up to 7 o'clock this evening got through the day without an accident but the overland railroads have not been equally fortunate. Early this morning on the Montana Central the Great Northern through train struck a wagon and team at the crossing near the Silver Bow mill. The driver escaped uninjured but one of his horses was killed outright.

A slight collision took place early this afternoon between a couple of locomotives on one of the Montana Union maintenance tracks near the water tank. The engines that collided were the new Shay locomotive and one of the "hogs," as the large sized freight locomotives are called by the railroad men.

Fortunately none of the trainmen were injured and the engines received but slight damage, as both were running slowly at the time. The fog caused this collision.

The most considerable accident of the day was a collision near the Butte reduction works on the Montana Union tracks about three-fourths of a mile west of the depot. The Anaconda train due here at 3:50 p. m. was pushing its way through the dense fog and smoke when it violently collided with a switching engine used as a helper west of the depot. It is not clear why the switching engine was so far on the track at that time when the Anaconda train was due.

When struck by the passenger train the switching engine was making its way toward the depot and the engineer of the former overlooked the helper, seeing it too late to prevent running it down. The helper got a very vigorous boost in the rear, breaking down the step and crushing the tender. The passenger locomotive did not escape so happily. The cow-catcher was demolished, the water tank was caved in, and the locomotive rendered dead and useless. The baggage car just back of the tender was badly wrenched and its forward coupling broken. The passenger escaped uninjured, with the exception of a few slight bruises. Of course they were badly frightened and roughly shaken up, many being violently fired into the seats in front. The only man who was injured to any account was the trainman who was thrown some distance from the rear platform upon some ice beside the track. He was a little stunned by the shock, but quickly recovered, finding himself slightly lamed but otherwise uninjured. The switch engine was able to move about and immediately began the work of clearing away the wreck. The passenger locomotive was so shattered that no little difficulty was found in moving it and it was nearly 6:30 o'clock before the train could be brought in and righted about for Anaconda. Meantime a freight train coming into Butte was held back by the wreck and back of all was the Union Pacific express which, although on time, could not get into the depot.

About 7:30 o'clock this evening, while Deputy Sheriff Richards was groping up West Granite street, between the court house and Main street, he ran across a horse and sulky quietly meandering around in the smoke without any driver.
The sulky seat was broken over backwards, seeming to indicate that the driver had fallen over in that direction.
The horse was cool and quiet and did not appear to have run away. It was a neatly saddled bay pony. Under Sheriff Gallagher took the beast down to Carr-lister, where its owner can have it by proving property and paying for the feeding.

So dense was the fog that practically all switching was suspended in the yards of the Montana Central and Northern Pacific railroads. Only such switching as was absolutely necessary to make up trains was done, and even this was accomplished with great difficulty. In the Montana Union yards switching was going on as usual owing to the absolute necessity of making up the innumerable freight and ore trains which are continually being dispatched. It was noticeable, however, that no "flying" switches were made; on the contrary the greatest caution was exercised, and the movements of engines and cars were characterized by the greatest slowness and care. Being unable to see one another more than a couple of feet distant the crews used whistles to give each other and announce their location.

It was learned later that in the collision on the Montana Union this afternoon George Boomer, the engineer of the switch engine, was quite badly bruised about his right arm and head. Dr.
McDonald went down to Boomer's home on Utah avenue this evening and found him in considerable pain. The doctor dressed the man's bruises and left him as comfortable as possible.

In Police Court.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—Henry O'Dell, charged with stealing an overcoat from Thomas Wilson, was arraigned before Judge Newkirk this afternoon on a charge of petty larceny. He pleaded not guilty and his examination was set for to-morrow.

George Winegard was arraigned on two charges, disturbing the peace and carrying concealed weapons. A plea of guilty to the first charge was entered, and in consideration the second was allowed to drop. He paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Robert Fay pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with fighting. He will receive trial to-morrow afternoon.

Fred Parker was found guilty of disturbance of the peace and taxed $5 and costs.
J. W. Kinney, arraigned on a similar complaint, entered a plea of not guilty.
His examination will take place to-morrow.

The Colored People Not Consulted.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—The Silver Leaf Debating club held its monthly meeting last evening and elected officers. At the next meeting there will be a grand debate on the question, "Resolved that the colored people of Butte would do better to emigrate to South Africa."

Sleighs, cutters and heavy bobs at almost absolute cost, at Bennett Bros., for two weeks only.

WALKERVILLE NOTES.

Trouble Said to Be Brewing Over Chancellor O'Donnell's Salary.

WALKERVILLE, Jan. 22.—No little excitement was caused in the city this morning by the report that two men had been poisoned from food eaten in a Chinese restaurant. The two men were F. Currin and Ernest Terry. Soon after eating breakfast they were taken violently ill and Dr. Phillips was sent for as soon as possible. He gave them each a violent emetic and soon relieved them. It is now believed that the difficulty was overeating, as the boys were found to have eaten an enormous quantity of canned plums as a desert after an otherwise hearty breakfast.

The committee of the city appointed to find rooms suitable for use as a city hall have settled upon two rooms in the new Masonic hall.

The continued postponement of the third council meeting is somewhat strange. Some say that interest in the new government is already waning and that the city fathers feel the yoke of the new responsibilities of a corporation already growing tiresome. This may have something to do with the failure to hold a council meeting for so long a time, but there is more reason to believe that the difficulty over the citizenship of City Clerk Cox is the ghost that haunts the council chamber. As was stated two weeks ago in the STANDARD the aldermen wrote to Attorney General Haskell asking his opinion on the matter. In point of tardiness in answering urgent inquiries Mr.
Haskell has knocked out Carter and Powers, for although a fortnight has passed the anxious Walkerville republicans have heard not a sound. Meantime Chancellor O'Donnell has prepared the ordinances and is awaiting an opportunity to report them to the council. It is reported that trouble is brewing over the amount of the chancellor's salary. He wants $1,200 while they expected to get his services for from $10 to $15 a month.

J. R. Jacory is confined to the house with a severe attack of erysipelas.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

The Trial of Han Tuet Will Probably Follow the Davis Will Case.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—Several criminal cases were set for trial this morning at the district court.

G. E. Miller, charged with assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury, was set for next Tuesday.

The trial of Han Tuet, alias Jim Wah Chung, charged with murdering Chin Loy in an East Helena street gambling den, was set for next Wednesday.

For Thursday was set the trial of John Hennessey, Pat McCarthy, and John Burns and W. J. Roach charged with robbery. Roach has asked for a separate trial and will be tried before the other defendants. It is improbable that any of these cases will be called at the appointed times. The trial of Frank Brady has occupied all of two days and may encroach somewhat on to-morrow. The evidence in his case is in all essential points the same as that to be brought out in the trial of Florence Brady and William Plunkett. So it is rather improbable that the trials of the Key West outfit will be concluded before Thursday night. It is believed that the Chinese murderer's trial will not come off until after the hearing in the Davis will case. This is set for February 3, and if begun then will continue seven or eight days.

The trial of Frank Brady was continued this morning. Peter Perrut was recalled, and then Sheriff Lloyd and Under Sheriff Gallagher were put onto the stand and testified as to the attempt to bribe Perrut to leave the state.

It was necessary to adjourn the court before 12 o'clock in order to wait for Chief Carroll, who was subpoenaed as one of the state's witnesses. An attachment was issued for the chief, but the costs were remitted by order of Judge McEl-lerton upon the former's explaining his absence. Early in the afternoon Mr. Hal-don began calling witnesses for the defense. Frank Brady was kept on the stand all the afternoon. He represented, as was expected, that Perrut was drunk that night and fell asleep in his room.

LYLE GOT HIS GUN.

Another Chapter in the War Over the Famous Colorado Claim.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—Another bloodless engagement was fought this afternoon in the war which has been in progress for some time for possession of the famous Colorado claim in East Park street. The original inaugurators of the war have disappeared from the contest and their places have been taken by Lyle Emery and H. P. Bowman. Both parties claim a portion of the ground and have had several collisions which ended in the police court, each having been arrested on the complaint of the other. Their last appearance in the police court occurred a few weeks ago when both were arraigned for disturbing the peace and carrying concealed weapons. Both were discharged. Instead of allowing hostilities to drop, the belligerents renewed their warlike tactics almost as soon as they left the court room. Emery secured a Winchester rifle, and visiting the disputed ground commanded Bowman to vacate instantly, on penalty of having his body turned into a receptacle for sundry of the bullets which were contained in the magazine of the gun. Bowman retreated in good order and made his first halt in Judge Eddy's court, where he filed a complaint against Emery, charging him with exhibiting a deadly weapon in a manner contrary to law. Of this charge Emery was adjudged guilty this afternoon and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs.

To-morrow Bowman is to be tried in the same court on a like charge wherein Emery appears as the complainant.

Clothes Thieves at Work.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—The clothes thieves that have been doing a good deal of rustling this winter have not yet, it seems, secured all the clothing they want, judging from the numerous complaints heard of people whose wardrobes have been robbed. Today a couple of men living in a cabin in the lower end of Washington street informed Chief Carroll that last night their house had been broken into while they were at work and a couple of overcoats and other wearing apparel stolen. The clothes stolen were quite old, and the loss to the men does not exceed $25.

Death of Matthew Smith.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—Matthew Smith, who died yesterday in this city, was an old resident of Butte and Anaconda. He was a member of Acacia lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Anaconda, and his remains are in charge of the Masonic fraternity of this city. The funeral will be held tomorrow unless word to a contrary effect is received from the deceased's brother.

Wilkey Canton No. 1 and Harmony lodge No. 3 will jointly give their annual ball at Renshaw hall, January 28. Music by Van Orton's orchestra. Tickets of admission, $2.00.

Dr. King is with us again and will remain until the 23rd. Have your eyes attended to by him.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

The Police Commission Investigate Charges Against Three Officers.

THE CHIEF ON THE COALS

Officer Swanson Suspended Without Pay for Thirty Days—The Commissioners Had No Use for Reporters.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—The police commission met this afternoon to investigate the charges against Chief Carroll and Patrolmen Charles Swanson and Patrick Mc-Devitt. Heyman Moses was the complainant against Swanson and Joseph Daft appeared against the chief.

The testimony adduced at the investigation is not known, the investigation being conducted behind barred doors in front of which Fire Marshal Jordan was stationed with orders to admit nobody except the defendants and witnesses.
Several reporters attempted to gain admission, having heretofore been granted permission to attend such investigations, but were unsuccessful as the fire marshal was proof against all coaxing. During a lull in the proceedings one of the commissioners left the room in which the investigation was being conducted and was asked by a reporter why the representatives of the press were excluded when they on all previous occasions had been admitted. The reply was,
"I don't know, except that the gang was not in the humor." Later the same gentleman stated that some of the witnesses did not want to be known in connection with the affair, and out of deference to their wishes it had been decided not to admit reporters.

As near as could be learned the charges against two of the officers, Carroll and Swanson, were similar—violently and unnecessarily abusing prisoners, or something to that effect.

The story of the grievance of Moses is tolerably well known. Last Monday evening he was arrested for assault and battery and released on a bond signed by O. K. Lewis. Shortly afterward Officer Swanson arrested him again on the same charge and demanded a cash bond for his appearance. Moses refused to give such a bond, saying he had already been arrested on the same charge. He was taken to the station and searched by Swanson.
During the search Moses placed two $20 gold pieces in his mouth so far to obtain them Swanson began choking him and then tried to force his mouth open and finally knocked Moses down and then kicked him. Swanson claims that Moses made repeated attempts to bite him, but this Moses denies.

Several witnesses were examined, but what their testimony was is not known.
At all events the defense made by the officer evidently was not satisfactory to the commission, as they ordered his suspension without pay for 30 days.

Daft, it is believed, does not allege that he received any personal violence from the chief, but was subjected to abusive and vulgar language.

One night during the earlier part of the week Chief Carroll and Officer McDevitt arrested a drunken man and were taking him to the station. When they reached the corner of Main and Park streets they met Daft, who was standing in the middle of the sidewalk.

They pushed him to one side and as they passed on he kicked at the man. One of the officers then reached back and catching hold of him took him along also and marched him to the station. He claims that while at the station he was subjected to the abusive and foul language alleged in his charge against the chief.

The story of his arrest and how it occurred was told to a STANDARD reporter a few minutes afterward by Messrs.
Breen and Will Forbis, who were then on their way to the station to secure Daft's release, saying that when Daft kicked at the officers he did not know who they were, but mistook them for some drunken men who had pushed him off the sidewalk.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Breen and one of the other witnesses the investigation was continued, to be concluded between now and the next meeting of the commission, when the commission will make its report.

Chief Carroll denies having used any foul or abusive language whatever, but says that he threatened to slap Daft's mouth unless he stopped abusing one of the other officers. The chief said that if there is to be an investigation every time he makes a petty arrest, he would like to rely on his star. He thinks he should be discharged if the police commission have not confidence in him.

Officer McDevitt was charged with fighting in Driscoll's saloon a few nights ago. On investigation the fact of fighting was admitted, but it was urged that he was off duty at the time, although he had his star on. It having been the first charge ever brought against Mr. McDevitt, and he having been instructed to wear his star at all times, the officer was allowed to go without punishment.

At the Opera House Last Night.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—Every seat was occupied at Maguire's opera house to-night; standing room, too, was at a discount.
Gus Williams and John Kelly in "U and I" kept the house in a roar from the moment the curtain rose on the first act.
The performance is without a dull moment. In the show are woven a number of rare characters, including the principles of German and Irish extraction, who became debauched and concerned in a number of diverting adventures, a colored janitor, a seven-foot policeman, a comic opera singer and her sylphs, a dismayed wife and a subretrie. The topical singing of the stars was exceedingly good. The play is a satire of a mild sort on the New York system of flats.

The same play will be repeated to-morrow and Saturday nights and will undoubtedly draw crowded houses each night.

A Painful Accident.

By the Standard's Special Wire.

BUTTE, Jan. 22.—John Zetridge, an employee of the Silver Bow mill met with a very painful accident this afternoon which cost him the loss of the index finger of the right hand. In lifting some heavy bars one fell on his finger crushing it to a jelly. Dr. Gillespie attended Zetridge and amputated the finger this evening.

A Woman Celebrated on Two Continents.

In a few well-chosen words tells what she knows of a celebrated article.
June 4.—To Mr. W. M. Wisdom: Dear
